CBD AND MASSAGE THERAPY

Cannabidiol, popularly known as simply CBD, is a naturally occurring non-psychoactive cannabinoid compound that is found in cannabis and hemp plants. The CBD receptors (known as CB2) are part of the endocannabinoid system, which is the physiological system that helps homeostatic functions within the central nervous system. This includes maintenance of bodily functions, pain, inflammation, and the immune system. CB2 receptors are found in nerve and immune cells in just about every organ, including the skin!

The benefits of both massage therapy and CBD individually provide great relief to the body. When CBD is incorporated into massage therapy the results can be more intense. CBD will bind and act on the CB2 receptors which can be found near the skin. This will activate the endocannabinoid system to deliver relief from pain and inflammation. At the Spa at the Essex, our Massage Therapists use jojoba and apricot kernel oil infused with 25 mg of Elmore Mountain Therapeutic CBD oil. The anti-inflammatory and pain-relieving agents of this CBD-infused massage oil reduces inflammation within the muscles and joints, allowing the massage therapist to work more effectively. The use of this infused massage oil also prolongs the benefits of the massage!

Since CBD is non-psychoactive, you do not have to worry about getting a “high” feeling from the CBD massage. If you were to get a massage that incorporated both THC and CBD topical products, you still wouldn’t feel a high. Studies conducted by the National Center for Biotechnology Information (NCBI) have concluded that the body has a low absorption rate for these cannabinoids and they never absorbed into the bloodstream when used topically. In fact, CBD has shown to counteract and reduce the psychoactivity of THC in cannabis derived products, therefor preventing you from feeling “stoned”.

Add CBD oil to any massage for and take the bottle home with you. Purchase your 2oz of jojoba oil/apricot seed oil blend infused with 25 mg of Elmore Mountain Therapeutics CBD oil. We will use the oil in your massage, and you get the rest to take home!
